Assistant Head's Message

This week we welcomed Ms Cottee back to Baby Owls class after her six-week placement at another local school. Baby Owls and Paddington Bears went for a fantastic day out at the National Gallery which included a storytelling workshop and a clay sculpture session. Many thanks to the many parents who came along to help!

Year 2 continued their rehearsals as part of the Primary Shakespeare project and Year 6 went along to a Junior citizenship workshop at Westminster.

The whole school attended a special Ash Wednesday Mass at which we were anointed with ash and listened to Reverend Julie as she explained the significance of the service.

Yesterday was World Book Day and we held our annual celebration of reading by dressing up as our favourite book characters. We started the day with the amazing teacher's parade and classes thoroughly enjoyed a range of book-related activities throughout the day culminating in a special assembly with prizes for the best costumes.

Year 1 held a highly successful cake sale to raise money for our school charity – see the wonderful work that this charity does here <http://www.saaksharschoolappeal.uk/>

Staff training included SIMS admission groups, survey results and data.

And finally, today we say goodbye and very best wishes to Ms Ahmed who is leaving us to have her baby.

Wishing you all a happy and restful weekend.
Mrs Shayler
